

Last rehearsal I introduced the Past Rehearsal files to new members and refreshed the memories of our oldsters to what is here and how it works. These audio files are recorded at each rehearsal and are available to the membership from my own dropbox which I share with the whole society.

These can be replayed directly from the page which displays a player with the usual functions. You do not need to download anything, or log in, or signup, or ask to join. You may freely download anything if you wish but it's not necessary.

After you click on what you want to hear, the player appears, there is a play button on the bottom left, and you simply click the play button to hear the file. When you want to play a different file, simply click on the X near the top left to go back. If you are having trouble, send a message to Jane and I will call to help you out.

I'm sure I don't need to tell how useful is this resource, particularly to catch up if you have missed a rehearsal, or just want to remind yourself how something went.

The files will be available as soon as possible after the rehearsal usually late next day.

To find these files; on the BHCS web site, find our "Practice Materials" page, scroll to the very bottom to "Audio Recordings of Rehearsal", click the link for access. Good luck. Jonathan
